Caution! WE desire to warn the dealers in, and consumers of snuff generally, that since the war, certain tobacco manufacturers, being unable to find a market for their snuffs, felt themselves obliged to counterfeit the general appearance of our packages, and imitate our Trade Marks so that a close inspection is necessary to detect the spurious article from the genuine, and others going so far as to assert that "Lorillard's Snuff is no longer made."

In making this publication we desire to warn the public against the impositions practiced upon them; as they are the losers thereby. It will be found upon comparison that Lorillard's Snuff is "par excellence" of all others, being made of the best stock after an original and secret process known only to ourselves, besides possessing great age strength and pungency, and is warranted not to contain any dangerous or deleterious substances, which cannot be said of the many worthless articles put on sale by others. The best is the cheapest in the end. A circular will always be mailed on application. In ordering please specify if Sate Snuff (High Toned), or Fresh Snuff (Extra Scotch) is desired.

ECONOMY BUTTER CO.,

ask the attention of all interested in the reduction of the extravagant cost of Butter, to their practical and economical system of making pure pine Butter by the aid of the

Extract Butter Plant

A brief allusion to the origin of this important discovery may not prove uninteresting. Among the authenticated records of the renowned Captain Cook's voyage around the world, is found the statement, that while sojourning for a short time on the Brazilian Coast of South America, he observed the natives using in the preparation of their food a peculiar oil, which, upon examination, he found to possess the appearance, taste and flavor of Butter; upon further inquiry, however, he ascertained that it was simply a substance that the natives distilled in a crude and imperfect manner, from a rich and luxuriant plant that grew spontaneously and abundantly in that warm tropical country.—A few years ago, an eminent French chemist, while on a professional visit to the tropics, made numerous experiments with this remarkable production of nature, and succeeded in extracting a concentrated essence of the plant. The formula for its preparation, and the Sole Right for its use in this country are the exclusive property of this Company, by whom it was purchased from the original discoverer. We claim for this remarkable, yet simple and perfectly harmless preparation—

1st.—That by its use a net gain of from 50 to 200 per cent is made in the manufacture of Butter.

2d.—That Butter, which from age or whatever cause may be strong, rancid, streaked or coarse-grained, and comparatively useless for general use, by the aid of this Extract, is restored to its original freshness and sweetness, fine-grain, and even color.

3d.—By the use of this Extract, one pound of delicious, fresh Butter is actually made from one pint of milk.

4th.—That a pure and excellent table Butter can be made at a cost of from 15 to 20 cents per pound. The chief expense where in being Butter, which is the essential base.

5th.—That Butter manufactured by the aid of this Extract, is equal in every respect to the best Butter made by the ordinary method.

6th.—The Extract after thorough analysis, by able chemists, is pronounced perfectly free from any deleterious substance, the ingredients being purely of a vegetable nature.

7th.—In proof of the foregoing assertions, the factory of this company is making one ton of Butter per day, which meets with ready sale in the New York Market, and is consumed from the tables of the first Hotels, Restaurants and Private families in this city and elsewhere.

A sample package of the EXTRACT (sufficient to make 20lbs of Butter) with full directions for use, will be sent to any address on the receipt of $1.

CAUTION.—As all articles of real merit are subject to spurious imitations, we would specially caution the public against counterfeits and worthless imitations, advertised as powders, compounds, &c., as the Extract of the Butter Plant is prepared and sold only by

A Romance of Bankruptcy--Enoch Arden Outdone

The St. Louis Republican of the 15th vouches for the truth of the following:

Who is it that does not remember the financial crash of 1857? It spread over the country, even to St. Louis.—Many of our most enterprising and seeming most prosperous merchants had to succumb to the pressure of the time. Among them was a merchant whom we shall call "Smith." His real name and some of the circumstances we are about to relate will doubtless be recollected by many in St. Louis even to day. He kept an extensive mercantile establishment on —— street, and by his enterprise and promptitude won the confidence of the best supply houses in the East and West. His business was good, his credit was good, and everybody thought he would survive the troubles of that long-to-be remembered winter of '57. But he, too, had many smaller merchants largely indebted to him for goods he furnished them.

He had a young, beautiful, and highly-accomplished wife and three smiling, innocent babes—enough to inspire an affectionate father's ambition and energies for their maintenance and education. They lived in a neat villa of their own in a fashionable portion of the city, and the neighbors said a happier family did not exist in the State of Missouri.

The crash came; his debtors were unable to meet his calls; and as a consequence he was unable to meet the demands of his creditors. He suddenly became moody and fretful, even in the bosom of his lovely family. What was he to do? He had not much time left for ruminating on his position, and something should be done quickly. His first resolve was to make over the villa to his wife and family, and secure an annuity of $600 a year on his wife for the support of herself and children, and leave the city secretly—he knew, he cared, not whither. Little time elapsed between the resolution and the carrying it into effect. So one night, after kissing his wife and little ones, but without bidding them good-bye, he sallied forth, determined to rebuild his fallen fortunes or perish in the attempt.—His remaining stock was soon gobbled up by his creditors—but how as to himself? What became of him? Did he make away with himself in a fit of temporary insanity, or was he made away with, as scores are from year to year that fall into the hands of "roughs," who would murder a man and stow his body away for ten dollars. These were queries that agitated the minds of the desolate and disconsolate family, the public, and the press, of St. Louis at the time. No account of the missing man could be ferreted out. Proclamations and rewards were of no avail; and the universal verdict was "mysterious disappearance."

Mrs. "Smith" mourned her husband as dead for the weeks and the months of two long years, till her fair features began to grow sallow and furrowed by the effusion of the scalding tears. She wisely concluded it was useless to mourn any more, so taking a practical and interested view of matters, she decided to receive the long-proffered attentions of William Bradford, an old bachelor, companion merchant of her late husband. He was doing a profitable business on —— street, having weathered the financial storm already alluded to.

In a very few weeks after this resolution—the blood again mantled Mrs. Bradford's cheek and a placid smile sat on her brow and lips—she was again happy. In her new alliance she was blessed with two more beautiful children added to her household, and bearing the name of Bradford.

But her happiness was not destined to be perpetual, for William Bradford was afflicted with consumption, and gradually sinking under it, died during the last spring, leaving his wife for the second time a widow. To her and his children fell his business, which, as she could not conveniently attend, she converted into cash, realizing a sum that placed herself and her children in easy circumstances.

During all these long years what became of "Smith?" He made his way to Montana and worked in the mines, where his intelligence and natural enterprise soon put him on the road to wealth. Some years after he went there, the small-pox broke out among the miners, and he caught the infection, from which he recovered, but so pitted that his mother would not know him. Day and night he laboured and figured and prospected on the realization of the object of his ambition—independence, which is synonymous to wealth.

Last spring his good star favored him—he struck a rich vein, and beheld in the bags of gold dust around him enough to liquidate all claims against him and place himself and his family, if they still were in existence, in luxury for the rest of their days. He sold out, packed up, and reached St. Louis about the 1st of June.

Preserving an incognito, he inquired for Mrs. "Smith." Nobody knew her or knew of her. His heart sunk within him. Did his fair wife and beautiful children sink into sorrowful graves while he toiled to make them happy? The thought was depressing in the extreme.

At length he met a person who was acquainted with the circumstances of Mrs. Smith's second marriage, and when Mrs. Bradford was pointed out to him he recognized the form and features of his long-lost wife. After some difficulty he obtained an introduction to her, and concealing his name and the knowledge of his immense wealth, he wooed and won her. She gave her consent to be his on the promise that the children of the two previous marriages should be well treated by him.

On last Thursday evening to the old villa a clergyman was summoned to tie the nuptial knot, when the real name of the new suitor and his former relationship were disclosed, and although the bride fainted, it was a happy reunion. He was happy to see his children well grown in body and intelligence in the intervening eleven years. Words cannot picture the happiness of the twice-married couple and their family, and notwithstanding the traces of the small-pox she loves her husband better than ever.—May their happiness continue.

The facts we have learned from the clergymam who performed the ceremony are a romance that beats Enoch Arden to pieces.

A CONTRARY HEN.

A crowd at a tavern was discussing what animal of all others was most contrary; some held that a mule was some a hog, some a yoke of oxen.—A Dutchman, who had very gravely listened to the conversation, gave in his experience.

Te mule, te hog, and te ox, is all very stubborn; but te hen is te stubbornest animal in te worlt. I had von vot wanted to hatch some eggs. I make von fine leetle nest, and put him in it, and she gets up and runs away. I den makes another lectie nest, and puts her on it, and her runs away again; I makes one nice leetle box and puts it all over te hen, and for all the trouble mit I have, ven I peeped under de little box te tam hen was settin standin!

Why does the bridegroom always put on the ring at a wedding?—Because bell(e)s cannot ring themselves.

Why is life the greatest riddle?—Because all must give it up.

Goldsborough News.

WEDNESDAY JUNE 2, 1869.

ASSASSINATED.—We learn from the Newbern Times, of the 30th, that as Sheriff O. R. Colgrove, of Jones County, was on his way from his home, a little out of town, to Trenton, yesterday morning about 8½ o'clock, he was shot and killed by a band of men, whose names we are as yet unable to ascertain. At the time the deed was done he was at or near the path which leads to Bragg's house.

A colored man who accompanied him was also shot through his arm and side. He is sadly hurt, but with the best care may possibly recover. Mr. Colgrove's horse was also shot, about twelve buck shot entering his head. Shortly after this affair occurred his brother, Senator D. D. Colgrove, dispatched a messenger to this city with the above facts, and requesting that a hearse and coffin be immediately sent for his body.

Jno. L. Shipp, who has been acting [illegible] also sent a note by the same messenger, stating substantially the same as related above.

Comments on the above facts are unnecessary. It is a terrible state of affairs, and the only question arrising now, is how long will any class of men who profess respectability, try to excuse this barberous state of affairs. It is terrible, and it should not longer be permitted. The facts have been telegraphed to His Excellency Gov. Holden, and in the mean time the militia and all officers in the country are in hot pursuit of the murderers.

THE REVENUE LAW.

Opinions of the Public Treasurer on the Revenue Law.

David A. Jenkins, Esq., Public Treasurer, has delivered the following opinions on the new revenue law:

STATE OF NORTH CAROLINA,
TREASURY DEPARTMENT,
Raleigh, May 26, 1869.

B. F. BRIGGS, Esq., Sheriff, Wilson, N. C.

DEAR SIR: Yours of the 22d instant is received.

1st. To make a man liable under Sec. 28, Schedule B, he must be an itinerant—that is he must go about from country to country to practice his business. But if one be an "itinerant" under this section he does not pay the $10 tax, if he be a resident of the State and also has listed the receipts of his profession for 1868-'69. If the dagurerreotypist you mention has thus listed his receipts of course he does not pay the $10.—But suppose that, being a resident and willing to list his receipts, such receipts do not exceed $500. Is such a person liable to the tax of $10 for each county? I think not. But I advise you not to exempt him unless he will go to an assessor and make the oath required of those listing "not income" i. e. giving his gross receipts and gross expenses. If there is no balance after making the proper deductions he may not have anything to pay, but he brings himself within the proviso of Section 28.

Such a person is not in any case exempt from the tax on the property owned by him and you must see that this property has been listed.

2d. I think a manufacturer of Vehicles does not pay tax under Section 23.

3d. In my opinion a man who buys spokes, tires, and other materials, and manufactures them into vehicles does not pay tax as a merchant or trader under section 15. The manufacturer of vehicles is like a farmer or miller, &c. He pays tax on the value of his property, including his spokes, tires and other material, but is not liable to any more burdens than others.

Very Respectfully,
D. A. JENKINS,
Public Treasurer.

STATE OF NORTH CAROINA,
TREASURY DEPATRENT,
Raleigh N. C., May 22d, 1869.

C. H. GOULD, Esq., Raleigh, N. C.:

SIR: Yours of this date is received. You state that you are "traveling agent for a mercantile and manufacturing house in Baltimore, Md., but without either samples or merchandise, simply to represent your house; and receive any orders which merchants may please to present to you for transmission to your house."

You pay tax under sec. 33 of the Revenue act which provides that "every non-resident or drummer or agent of a non-resident, who shall sell any spirituous, vinous or malt liquors, goods, wares or merchandise by sample or otherwise, whether delivered or to be delivered, shall pay an annual tax of fifty dollars," &c., &.—License is required "before making such sales," to be obtained from the sheriff.

Very respectfully,
D. A. JENKINS,
Public Treasurer.

Ecstatic.—A young man who recently fell in love with a beautiful young lady, says that when he learned the other evening that she reciprocated his passion, he felt as though he were sitting on the top of a meeting house, and every shingle was a jewsharp.

FROM CUBA—More Fighting.—A special dispatch to the New York Herald, dated Havana, May 23d, says:

Information has been received here of the landing of 300 fillibusters near Gibara. There was an obstinate fight with the troops on the shore, in which the Spaniards captured two cannon and lost thirty-two men, and the insurgents had eighty killed and wounded. The result is unknown.—Fighting is reported near Trinidad and Cienfuegos, with heavy losses and appalling atrocities on both sides. Remedios is in a state of anarchy.—The insurgents are ubiquitous in that jurisdiction and small bands of Spaniards and Cubans are engaged in mutual murder and robbery.

Dr. Spring, of Boston, weighed 585 pounds, and had a foot of thirteen inches in length and fourteen and a half inches in breadth.

THERE has been a great "slump" in Michigan. A piece of ground about seventy feet in diameter sunk to a depth of about eighty feet, leaving an opening in the centre, through which a sound comes up as of the rushing of mighty waters. At least such is the story told by a local paper.

SAD.—In Shaw, Illinois, a few days since, a farmer named Stanton went into the field to plow, and was followed by his two little children, a boy and girl, who stopped to play in the high prairie grass. Not being aware of this fact, Mr. Stanton set fire to the grass, and the children were soon enveloped in the flames, the noise of the fire drowning their shrieks.—The father went home to dinner, and the children not returning, search was made when the body of the little girl was found burned to a crisp. The boy had managed to escape to the plowed ground, but was dangerously burned.

THE GRECIAN BEND.—The "Grecian" still holds its own. Just as the style is best the girls are inclined, and will be until the inexorable law of Fashion ordains otherwise. It has now been ascertained that the Grecian bend has been in fashion in Japan for four centuries. The spinal curve had its origin in the custom which Japanese ladies have of carrying their babies on their back, and the pannier had its origin in the broad silk girdle which is swathed several times around the waist and fastened in a large bunch behind.

A Young Lady Takes a Dose of Arsenic to Beautify Her Complexion, and Kills Herself.

From the San Francisco Bulletin.

Coroner Letterman was informed yesterday that a young lady had died in the city, the circumstances of whose death required investigation.—He found that the name of the deceased was Delinda Louisa Cook; her residence 404 Shipley street, near Eighth; and that the cause of death was poison. On visiting the house the Coroner found that arrangements had been made for her funeral yesterday afternoon. He gave directions to have the burial postponed, took charge of the body, and in the evening held an inquest over the remains. The investigation established the sad and singular fact that the deceased had taken a dose of arsenic to beautify her complexion, and had thereby destroyed her life.

Miss Cook was a native of Maine, aged 18 years. She had been in this State but five or six weeks, and was living with some friends on Shipley street. She was blessed with robust health and endowed with more than an ordinary degree of beauty, but a ruddy complexion. For the purpose of acquiring a more delicate complexion, it appears she decided to resort to the use of arsenic, a habit not uncommon among weak-minded and frivolous women. Miss Cook seems to have been entirely ignorant of the use of the material. She visited the drug store of C. D'Assonville, 1116 Fulton street, and procured two ounces of arsenic. The box which contained it was marked "arsenic, poison."

On Saturday afternoon, at 4 o'clock, Miss Cook was taken suddenly ill.—When questioned, she stated that she had taken nearly a teaspoonful of the contents of the box. When informed that she had taken a large dose of deadly poison, and that her life could probably not be saved, she was greatly astonished, and intense mental anguish was added to her already terrible physical suffering. Every possible effort was made by the physicians in attendance to save the life of the sufferer, but she died at 1 o'clock on Sunday morning.

THE CROPS IN THE SOUTH, according to the journals in that region, are not so promising as they were a few weeks ago. The usual visitations of rains, the floods and the extraordinary cold spells have seriously injured the cotton. The high winds have bruised and the cold has withered the cotton so that in many places it has become necessary to replant. The grain crops, however, especially the wheat, in Georgia, it is reported, are doing well.

[From the New Orleans Picayune.]

SCENE IN THE CAGE OF AN ENRAGED LION.—An incident occurred at the circus, corner of Bourbon and Orleans streets, which nearly became a tragedy. It is well known to our people that Herr Lingel, the lion-tamer, at the close of the performance enters the cage of the lions. For more than a year the lioness has had a great antipathy to him; has more than once attacked him with savage ferocity. At Madison, Indiana, last summer, she came very near killing him, and as if still remembering the advantage then obtained, she made a similar attack, which came near being fatal. For some time before entering the dens, they discovered great uneasiness, and when the lion-tamer mounted the ladder which led into the cage, the lioness assumed a position which threatened an immediate attack.

Undeterred by this manifestation of hostility, the iron-nerved performer threw open the door, and darted in. For a moment the scene was thrilling. The lions seemed mad with rage, and sprang from one side of the cage to the other in apparently ungovernable fury. The lioness was particularly spiteful, and sprung at him more than once with open mouth; but the mesmeric power of the eye controlled her, [illegible] often retreated into the further corner of the cage, growling sullenly. Compelling the lions to go through their usual performance, Herr Lingel was about retreating from the den, the lioness, as if possessed with sudden fury, sprang at him, and clutched his knee in her teeth. The audience was appalled. The shrieks of women mingled with shouts of men. Everybody expected to see the man torn limb from limb. But with admirable presence of mind he succeeded in releasing the hold of the animal and retreated from the cage. Although dangerously wounded, his injuries are such as will not preclude his speedy recovery.

A Woman in a Prayer-Meeting at Hamilton, Ill., Predicts Her Speedy Death and Immediately Expires.

[From the Carthage (Ill.) Republican]

A correspondent at Hamilton, in this county, sends us an account of a singular circumstance which has just transpired in that city. The correspondent is a reliable gentleman, and we have no reason to doubt his statement. A Mrs. Blackmore, resident at Hamilton, an estimable lady, and an exemplary member of the M. E. church, while in attendance upon a prayer meeting on Thursday evening, the 6th instant, arose to tell of a strange sensation that seemed to take possession of her. She said she was going to die very soon; that she felt that half her body was dead already. She desired her family to be sent for immediately. She said she suffered no pain, was not afraid to die, but felt calm and happy. In a few moments she apparently ceased to breathe, and sank back as if in death. Her features, however, were diffused with a smile of serenity and joy.—Nearly a week has elapsed since this sad and singular occurrence, and yet the woman sleeps the sleep that apparently has no waking this side of eternity. Her features and general appearance are not changed. Nothing is lacking save visible respiration to invest the body with the impersonation of a peaceful, natural sleep.

Acquittal.—At Forsythe Court, last week, Col. Wm. F. Henderson, indicted, in connection with his brother, David Henderson, on the charge of stealing a mule from Henry Darr, of Davidson county, was put upon his trial and, after a very vigorous prosecution and able defense, acquitted.—The jury, we learn, deliberated but five and a half minutes in making up their verdict.—State.

More.—"Biddy, did you put an egg in the coffee?" "Yes, mum; put in four they were so bad, I had to use the more of them."

SUBTRACTION.—

"From six take nine,
From nine take ten,
From forty take fifty,
And six will remain,

Answer next week.

RETRENCHMENT.—Josh Billings has made a considerable reduction in the brim of his hat.

A SERVANT living in our suburbs, was directed to get the mail. After her return her mistress inquired of her, "Did you get the mail?" She answered, "Faith, mum, I did not, for you forgot to tell me whether it was indian mail or corn mail that you wanted."

DIED.

In this town, on Wednesday last, the 26th inst., after a brief illness, MRS. SARAH A. E. STANLY, wife of Mr. N. B. Stanly, in the 40th year of her age. She was a consistent member of the Methodist Church, and has gone to reap the rewards of a well spent life.

In Wilmington on the 29th inst., AUGUSTA E., daughter of Augusta E. and J. F. Divine, aged 2 years and 7 months.

The farmers near the sea-shore in Maine are said to have learned that "fish make as good feed as hay, and that one fish makes a full meel for a sheep."

And he did many wonderful works insomuch that his name was pronounced in many tongues. And there came unto him, Judith, from the seaport of New Bedford, who had been sick for many years; and after some days her pains were gone. She slept soundly, and did rejoice in eating her food. And Asa, from those which are called Quakers, in the great city of Philadelphia, wrote an epistle saying: O, Doctor! accept thou this money, which is called greenbacks, and hath the picture of Abraham, thy friend, on one end.—For verily I was weak, exhausted and despondent; I ate but little, and suffered many pains, and thy PLANTATION BITTERS gave me health, likened only unto the vigor of youth. And upon such as are afflicted with liver complaint, with sour stomach, with general debility and dyspeptic pains, in all parts of the land did these Bitters produce astonishing cures.

MAGNOLIA WATER.—Superior to the best imported Cologne, and sold at half the price.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

A THRILLING INCIDENT

In the mission life of Mrs. Ingalls, in Burmah, is well told in the "Baptist Messenger," relating how she was sent for to visit one of the Buddhist high priests, who had been nearly killed; and how, while in the most holy place in their temple, where none but priests had ever before been admitted, she was permitted unrebuked to use for him the sacred vessels, which none but the high priest dare touch, and to even overturn and sit on one of their gods to rest; all through the magic influence of the Pain Killer, called by them the 'God medicine," so successfully had she used it in curing their many diseases, some of them considered heretofore fatal in that climate, among which were cholera liver complaint, Dyspepsia, the bites of venomous reptiles, &c. This speaks volumes for the Pain Killer.—London Times.

Rev. J. E. Clough, Missionary at Ongole, Southern India, writes:—"We esteem your Pain Killer very highly for scorpion stings, cholera, &c, and cannot very well get along without it."

Rev. I. D Colburn, Missionary at Tavoy, Burmah, writes; "I shall be happy to assist in extending a knowledge of a remedy so speedy and effectual."

Speaking of those diseases, and diseases arising from the excess of mercury, he states that no remedy is equal to the Extract of Sarsaparilla; its power is extraordinary, more so than any other drug I am acquainted with. It is, in the strictest sense a tonic with this invaluable attribute that it is applicable to a state of the system so sunken, and yet so irritable as renders other substances of the tonic class unavailable or injurious.

THE EXCURSION—A DAY'S DELIGHTFUL RESPITE.—In response to an invitation from Capt. R. T. Fulghum, who had for the past two or three weeks been exerting all his energies to get up an Excursion on a grand scale to the sea coast, we repaired to the car-shed, at 6 o'clock, Thursday morning, and took passage, with the Scholars of the Episcopal Sunday School and a number of ladies and gentlemen, for "Old Beaufort" and the Ocean.

Recreation, during the summer season, is a pleasure we may very appropriately characterize as supreme; but during the hot and sultry length of Thursday, it was a positive luxury to all who were permitted to leave the cares of home and business to take care of themselves, in order to devote the hours of one day to the gratification of self. On such recreative occasions the greater the novelty and variety the more delightful and pleasure-giving are the results accruing. So the wisdom of our Episcopal friends dictated when they determined to combine the exhilirating novelty and variety of a railroad excursion with the pic-nic recreation of their Sabbath School on Thursday. This was a wise move on the part of the Superintendent, who knows full well

"What a pity—
Biding in the parched city
All the fiery summer through!
Dry and dusty,
Soul and body getting rusty.
Lacking will to think or do!"

Full well they know and appreciate the misery of perspiring humanity as every day they see them "drag their weary lengths along" on sultry streets and burning pavements, surrounded by hot, steam-exuding walls and brassy skies, which seem to be

"Ever growing
Hotter and hotter—fiercely glowing
From the morning till the noon;
Hotter and hotter—
Like the furnac of the potter
When it sings its custom'd tune."

'Tis no wonder then, that on the morning of the excursion all were so promptly in attendance and seemed so anxious to be off for "Old Ocean." They realized the happiness of escaping even for a brief period from the caloric confines of the town. At half past six o'clock precisely, a long and heavily laden train of Sabbath School children and friends, under the direction of the Superintendent, Capt. Fulghum, left the town on the Atlantic Road, and after a rapid ride of five hours, over a well conditioned road, the excursionists arrived at their destination, Morehead City. Here they disembarked and after viewing the scenery round about, took shipping to the number of something like a hundred and fifty, in eight or ten fine sail boats, to pay old Beaufort a visit. Arriving at this popular summer resort, the party stormed the Front Street House, kept by mine host, Capt. W. C. King, who not having been apprised of our coming, was not prepared to serve dinner for us. [This popular House was not open, but was undergoing repairs preparatory for opening this week.] He however spread wide his doors to the excursionists, and furnished tables, ice-water and waiters, and as the ladies had well-stored baskets with choice esculents, they were soon spread out in every direction presenting a magnificent picturesque sight. After dinner, all again took to the boats, visiting Shackleford's Bank and Fort Macon, and finally returned to Morehead City. Right here we return thanks to Maj. ——, Commanding the Fort, for his polite attention, in furnishing our party with an escort round about, and all through it. The sailing was magnificent, and notwithstanding many of our fair companions were drenched with an occasional swell breaking over our tiny craft, they stood it heroically, and all went swimmingly on. About six o'clock, the hour for leaving, all came together again, and all being found safely aboard, away sped the crowded train, "bounding like a thing of life" on its homeward course. About 11 o'clock the pleasure jaded excursionists arrived safely at home, all satisfied with th day's unmixed happiness, and with another pleasant episodical recollection fixed in their memory that will remain long after

"The gentle dreams of summer have passed away."

To President Stanley, of the Road, who furnished such elegant cars, to Mr. Roderick Powell, the efficient and gentlemanly Conductor on the occasion, and to Capt. W. C. King, of the Front Street House, we are under especial obligations; and to each of these gentlemen we now quaff a good health in an imaginary glass of claret.

☞ A stranger, some few nights ago stopping at one of our hotels, complained that he was somewhat annoyed during the night by the incessant lowing of one of the bovine species in a lot adjacent; whereupon "Thad," who was standing close by, and who, by the way, sometimes deals in hyperbole, remarked "that the cow in question did low very well for a beginner, but she could not begin to low like her mother, who on being separated one cold frozen night from her calf, commenced lowing about midnight, and on the following morning be found that the cows horns had melted and run down on the ground in a little puddle." Whereupon the stranger led the way to the bar and paid "horns" for the crowd.

RETURN TICKETS.—The W. & W. Rail Road Company will dispose of return tickets (for one first class fare) to persons desiring to attend the consolidation meeting of the A. & N. C. R. R. and the N. C. R. R. companies, to be held at Newbern on the 2nd of this month.

The tickets can be procured from any station along the Weldon road. After the meeting, an excursion to Morehead City will be given, and many will no doubt avail themselves of the opportunity thus offered for an enjoyment that will cost comparatively a small amount.

LYNCHING IN TENNESSEE.—A band of disguised armed men rode up to the county jail at Manchester, Tennessee, a few nights ago, called the jailer out, presented their pisiols at him, and demanded the keys. These were quickly surrendered, the jail entered, and two negroes, awaiting trial on the charge of an outrage upon a white woman, were seized, taken out to a neighboring tree and hanged. The band then rode away and have not been heard of since.

The Presbyterian Assemblies have at length agreed upon terms of Union. It is to be effected upon the doctrinal and ecclesiastical basis of the common standards. The old and new scriptures are to be acknowledged as the Inspired Word of God; the confession of faith is to continue as containing the system of doctrine taught; the government and discipline of the Presbyterian church in the United States is to be approved and each of the Assemblies are to submit the foregoing as a basis to their respective Presbyteries, which are to meet on or before the 15th day of October next.

Mr. O. A. Osborne, of Cairo, has invented a spring, to be attached to the feet, by means of which a person is relieved of the labor of walking to a great extent. He claims his invention will enable a man to walk ten miles per hour with ease.

GRACE GREENWOOD has sold her "Little Pilgrim" to Alfred L. Sewell & Co., Publishers of "THE LITTLE CORPORAL," of Chicago. The Pilgrim has been published as a children's magazine for over fifteen years, and has been a popular juvenile, but will now stop "pilgrimaging" on his own account, and hereafter be an "aide" to the conquering Western Napoleon, THE LITTLE CORPORAL, the well deserved circulation of which was even before this addition larger than that of any other juvenile magazine in the world. Grace Greenwood still writes for it. The July number begins a new volume, and we advise our friends to send on to the publishers, at once, one dollar, which is the price for one year, and give their children this unique, original magazine, which has no superior anywhere. Those who subscribe during June, will receive the June number extra.

DIED.—Jas. H. Place, one of the County Commissioners, and formerly Mayor of Goldsboro', died in this place on Wednesday last, the 26th instant.

WHAT is worse than raining cats and dogs? Hailing cabs and omnibuses.

COLLEGE COMMENCEMENT.—The commencement exercises of Goldsboro' Female College, last week, were the most interesting of any similar exercises. The proficiency of the students were such as to please every one present, evidenting the most remarkable accuracy, which was proof of the most careful attention and judicious system of instruction.

Miss Alice Bailey, of Jones County, was awarded a gold medal by the President, she having continued in the College one year after graduating.

Miss Mary E. Scarborough, of Lenoir county, graduated.

Miss Fannie Ormaud, of Greene county, finished her English and Mathematical course.

We believe North Carolina can boast the best Female Colleges in the South, and the one over which Prof. E. W. Adams presides, is second to none. Its rapid advancement in popular favor is a satisfactory guarntee of this. The healthfulness of the pupils during the past session has been truly surprising; in so large a family a physician was seldom seen. The zeal displayed by Prof. A. to make the School one of the first in the whole country, is eminently praiseworthy, and is deserving the highest appreciation by the public. He is constantly increasing his facilities for education. The Teachers have proved themselves Ladies under whom parents can place their daughters with confidence. Morally and intellectually they have few superiors, while in their gentle but firm discipline, they command the love of their pupils. Such Teachers are always successful in imparting knowledge, and will build up any institution.

We are pleased to know that the department of Music will be continued under the care of that most estimable Lady, Mrs. Dr. Moore. Nothing is now wanted to make this College one of the most popular in the South but an energetic and determined effort on the part of its friends to give it that patronage which it so justly deserves. Let all our people go to work for it—write to distant friends for it—and encourage it in every way in our power.

AN EXPLANATORY DRAWING by the N. C. Real and Personal Estate Agency, took place in Raleigh, on Saturday last, and was witnessed by a crowd of eager expectants. Our friend, J. M. Blair, of the Yarbrough House, drew the largest prize—a piano worth $650. Wesley Whitaker drew a $50 China set, and Mrs. Peper, a $12 hearth rug. All were convinced that the drawing was conducted with the utmost fairness, and every one satisfied that the grand drawing, of which this was explanatory, to come off some time soon, will be managed with scrupulous honesty and fidelity.

As there seems to be an impression prevailing, that the property to be disposed of at the grand drawing is greatly over-valued, we will state that we are perfectly familiar with the real estate offered in the City of Raleigh, and that it is not over estimated, being very valuable. We have also, at the request of the Company, examined a number of articles of personal property included in the list, and find it to be of a very superior quality.

There will be another drawing on the 5th of June for 200 prizes. Price of tickets $1, for sale in Goldsboro by J. B. Whitaker Jr.

During the epidemic of intermittents in the West this season, the whole immense stock of Ayer's Ague Cure became exhausted, and the producing power of his Laboratory was found inadequate to meet the demand.—Many who knew its extraordinary virtues for the cure of CHILLS AND FEVER, paid exorbitant prices for it to those who were fortunate enough to have a supply on hand. Some of our neighbors paid ten dollars for a bottle, while the regular price is but one, and assure us it was on the whole the cheapest remedy they could buy, even at that figure. They praise it for two qualities: first, that it cures, and last that it leaves the health unimpaired.—[Iowa Standard.

At the residence of Judge Henry W. Thomas, at Fairfax C. H., Va., there is a fox which, together with a litter of kitten, has been suckled and protected by a cat, and which, barring the rough tugs it gives its foster mother's teats, bestows upon her as much filial affection as her natural offspring, and receives from her the same motherly care.

Friday was the day appointed for the execution of Gus Baker and Jim Thomas at Weldon, the murderers of Wade Ditcher- the third convict, George Bayline having been respited until 25th of June. A large crowd was in attendance to witness the execution, but in this they were disappointed, as a few minutes before the arrival of the fatal moment a reprieve for a week was received, and the miserable wretches were removed from the scaffold to their cells.

Appeal from Miss Penelope Adkins—Destructive Fire.

ATLANTA, May 29.—Miss Penelope Adkins, daughter of the late Senator Adkins publishes an appeal for justice, in which, speaking of reports relative to her father, she says: "I hurl back the infamous charges they allege against my deceased father—charges which consist altogethe of vague rumors. If they have proof of dissolute conduct ahsinst him, sufficient to justify murder for personal causes, let it be produced. They are well aware that no private injury to his assassin caused his murder.—They know and feel in their hearts that he was killed on account of his politics alone, solely because he was a republican. The murderers are well known and can be named, yet no steps have been taken to bring them to justice. I have no resource but appeal to the people of Georgia and of the nation for retribution upon them and their secret clan of assassins. Such an appeal I hereby solemnly make."

Davis' theatre was destroyed by fire last night. Loss $75,000—no insurance.

There was snow on the Blue Ridge mountain, east of Luray, Virginia, on Thursday and Friday last. The weather has been unusually cold for May.

A gentleman was praising the beautiful hair of a lady, when one of those terrible children which Providence seems to have sent on earth as scourges of hypocrisy and falsehood, exclaimed, "My hair would be as handsome as mamma's if she'd let me take as much care of it as she takes of hers. Mamma never sleeps in her hair, but always puts it away in the wardrobe before she goes to bed."

A VENERABLE PRINTER.—W. L. Barry, Esq., of the Lebanon (Tenn.) Herald, aged eighty-nine years, is the oldest printer in America. He sets his ten thousand ems from sun to sun, and handles his composing stick with as much ease and accuracy as when he set the obituary notice of Geo. Washington.

AN ITEM FOR BACHELORS.—The attention of bachelors is respectfully invited to the following touching "wail:"

"There are some sad sights in this world: a city sacked and burnt—a battle-field after a great slaughter—a London in the midst of a plague—a ship burning at sea—a family pining in starvation—a jug of molasses wrecked upon the pavement. All bad, it is true.

"But to us, the saddest sight of all is an old bachelor wearing toward the end of life, his duties undone. Miserable creature! just look at him; his shirt button off—his stockings out at toes—not a son or daughter, nor a relative, to drop a tear, close his eyes in death, or to leave his money to—nobody, in fact, to care for him—"shunned by saint and sinner."

A MODEL QUEEN.—Queen Victoria reached her fiftieth birthday last Monday. What a remarkable life this monarch has led since the death of her husband? Although a half century old, she still maintains her conjugal love, so uncommon among the great, in its earliest fire and purity. She is a remarkable example of the tenacity of woman's love when centered upon a worthy object.

The shoe trade of Lynn is now about $18,000,000 per annum. It is computed that in Lynn alone one pair of shoes or gaiter boots is made yearly for every female in the United States above the age of infancy.

NEW GEORGIA WHEAT.—Mr. J. O. Mathewson, an Augusta (Ga.) merchant, sent last week one dozen heads of ripe wheat to a commission merchant in New York. The wheat is of the "Alhambra" variety, sometimes known as the "yellow lampus." It was raised near Sandersville, Washington county, Ga., and the crop is now ready for harvesting.

The young Emperor of China, as an experiment, lately smoked a pipe of opium. His mother learned of it and discovered that the drug was supplied to him by one of the chief eunichs. She ordered him to be beheaded and caused a new proclamation against opium to be sent throughout the Empire.

JOSH BILLINGS ON OWLS.

The owl is a game burd; he can whip anything that wears feathers—after dark.

He is a wise burd and hoots at most things.

He is a sollum burd, a cross between a justice of the peace and a county supervisor.

He is a stiff burd, and sits up as stiff as an exclamation point.

He is a luxurious burd, and feeds on young chickens.

He is a long lived burd, and never was known to take death naturally.

He is a hardly burd, and groze tuff by bileing.

He is an honest burd, and always shows an open countenance.

He is a promp burd, and satisfize at once his outstanding bills.

He is a cumfortable burd, and always sleeps in feathers.

He is an attractive burd, and during the day can always be found in.

He is a restive burd, and don't come home until morning.

Thus the owl, a mistaken emblem of solitude and sadness, if we dig into its nature closely, is emphatically one of the boys, and belongs to the club.

An Eastern paper writes thus plainly about pretty girls: "It may be set down as a general rule that the pretty girls are those who dress the plainest; pretty girls do not require the extra adornment of dress.—Whenever, then, we see one of the gaudily-arrayed creatures of fashion, our mind is at once made up that she is not naturally beautiful. Every rule has its exceptions, and there are doubtless, exceptions to this one; but in its general application it will be pretty correct."

THE MYSTERY EXPLAINED.

Two darkies bought a mess of pork in partnershp: but Sam having no place to put his portion in, consented to trust the whole to Julius' keeping. The next morning they met, Sam said: "Good mornin. Julius: any thing happened strange or mysterious down in your vicinity lately?"

"Yes, Sam, most strange thing happen at my house yester-last night. All mystety, all mystety to me!"

"Ah, Julius, what was dat?"

"Well, Sam, I tole you now. Dis mernin' I went down into de cellar for to get a piece of hog for dis darkey's breakfast, and I put my hand down into de brine and felt all round but no pork dere———all gone, what bewent wid it; so I turned up the barrel, and as true as preachin' de rats had eat a hole fru de bottom ob de barl, and drag'd de pork all out!"

Sam was petrified with astonishment, but presently said:

"Why didn't de brine run out ob de same hole?"

"Ah, Sam, dat's de mystery, dat's de mystery!"

A Strong Constitution.—"Hiram, my boy," said a tender father to his son, "you must be more careful of yourself—you have not the constitution of some." "Don't you believe it; I've got the constitution of a horse. Dang it, if I don't believe I've got the constitution of the United States."

☞ A fellow in Ohio, who wasn't used to getting married, recently had the knot tied, in Oakland, and proceeded to the hotel, where he seated himself with his bride in the parlor. As it grew late in the evening, he ventured to inquire of a waiter "how soon their bed would be brought in." He was instructed in the proper method of procuring a sleeping apartment, and safely stowed away. An hour or two after, a strong smell of gas sent the night watchman hunting for the leak. It was traced to the room of the newly married pair.—Demanding admission and asking the cause of the escaping gas, the rural swain replied, pointing to the gas-burner, that "he blew it out, and the darned thing smelt so bad that he put his stocking over it." Sure enough there was the stocking drawn over the burner and tied down with a shoestring.

A poet says, "Oh she was fair, but sorrow came and left his traces there." What became of the rest of the harness he don't state.

DON'T YOU THINK SO.

TO BACHELOR JOE.

You squeezed my hand the other night
And ask'd me soft and slowly
If in a month I would be yours
In wedlock sweet and holy?
I don't object to being wed,
And would not from it shrink so,
But marriage is a trickish thing—
Be candid—don't you think so?

A maiden when she gives her hand,
Gives with it all her freedom;
She can't have pleasant flirts with men
And as she pleases—lead 'em.
Her husband goes to clubs o' nights,
And sometimes he will drink so
That his poor wife will feel ashamed,
My good sir, don't you think so?

They say that love will soon grow cold,
The passion's but as tinder;
When Poverty comes at the door,
Love flies out at the window.
Prove true and love me to the last,
And bless the power that links so;
Be mine forever—and I'm yours,
Dear creature! don't you think so?

SARAH JANE.

Put a Hole Through It.—One night Gen. ——— was out on the line. He observed a light on the mountain opposite. Thinking it was the signal light of the enemy, he told his artillery officer that a hole could easily be put through it. Whereupon the officer, turning to the corporal in charge of the gun, said: "Corporal, do you see that light?"

"Yes, sir."

"Put a hole through it."

The Corporal sighted the gun, and when all was ready, he looked up and said:

"General, that's the moon."

"Don't care a darn: put a hole through it any way.

A BEDBUG ON ARAFT.

Some few weeks ago, while on a flying visit to Boston, I engaged a room at the Parker House, where I intendid to pass the night. As my business necessitated an early start in the morning, I asked to be shown to my sleeping chamber at once.

The apartment to which I was conducted was a comfortable one, and contained a bed, table, several chairs a chest of drawers, and an old-fashioned washstand, with a wash-bowl, pitcher, etc.

I was not long in divesting myself of my garments, and in less time than it takes to tell it I had yielded myself to the influence of sleep.

How long I slept I cannot possibly say, but on awaking I experienced a sensation of something crawling over my lower limbs. Cautiously I passed my hand to the spot, and betweene my thumb and forefinger I caught the despoiler of my rest. Instinctively I suspected what it was, and drawing it across, me my suspicions were confirmed. I could have crushed it, but the consequences would have been unpleasant. So, with the same feeling of humanity that prompted the sentimental Sterne to throw a flea out of a two pair of stairs window, I leaned ovor the side of the bed and deposited my captive in the wash basin, which was about half filled with water.

This proceeding thoroughly aroused me, and I concluded to see if there were any more marauders of my midnight slumbers. For this purpose I got up to light the gas. I struck a match; it fizzled and went out; I struck another with the same result, and disposed of it as before. With the third match I got a light, and then sent the half burnt match to keep company with the others. I then commenced the search, but made no discovery. But the strange part of my story is that while engaged in my examination of the bed clothes, I heard a remarkable and harmonious sound. It appeared like music in the distance, but still distinct and clear. I listened more attentively. My eyes wandered around the room, and accidently into the wash-bowl, where I had deposited the bedbug, and I was supprised indeed. He was a perfect monster of his species. And what do you suppose he was doing! I assure you it is true. He had constructed a raft out of the two lighted matches I had thrown into the bowl, and with the third he was sculling himself around, singing, "A life on the ocean wave!"

Enraged.—Here is the aspiration breathed by a typographically outraged poet:

"I wish I had that editor
About a half a minute;
I'd bang him to his heart's content,
And with an h begin it.
I'd jam his body, eyes and bones,
And spell it with a d,
And send him to that hill of his—
That he spells with an e."

"You are quite welcome" as the empty purse said to the shilling.

THE great cures that this Salve has, and is now making, particularly the astonishing cures of Piles which it has effected, places it, beyond question, as the greatest remedy for this disease that has ever been known.

Sufferers from this dreadful and troublesome complaint, and their numbers are counted by thousands, and daily increasing, can confidently rely upon this Salve as the great medicine that will certainly cure them, having never known it to fail in a single instance.

Below we give for the benefit of those suffering from Piles, a few Testimonials from those who have suffered, and been completely cured by the use of Congleton's Vegetable Salve:

TESTIMONIALS:

WILLIAMETON, MARTIN Co.,
February 22nd, 1869.

MR. JNO. R. CONGLETON, RALEIGH, N. C.

Dear Sir:—For the last eight or ten years I have been exceedingly troubled with a painful and distressing case of the Piles. Hearing "Congleton's Vegetable Salve" spoken so highly of as the great cure for Piles, I purchased in March, 1868, while in Washington N. C., one box, and was soon relieved, and by the time I had used the contents of the box I was perfectly well, and have never had any return since. I consider myself entirely and permanently cured. I give this for the benefit of those who may be troubled with the same disease, believing thereby that I will be benefiting them, and recommending to them a most valuable medicine and worthy of great praise.

I have also used the salve for Sore Throat and find it the best medicine I ever had in my family for that complaint.

Respectfully yours,
JAS H ELLISON.

WAKE COUNTY, N. C, Feb. 14, 1866

MR. CONGLETON—Dear Sir:—It is with pleasure that I heroin certify to the efficacy of your Vegetable Salve, in the cure of Piles. I have been afflicted with said disease some twenty five years, more or less. I have tried various remedies, but found no cure until I was advised by a friend in Raleigh to try your Salve, which I have done, and am at present perfectly well. I have used only one box, which I think, it judiciously used, will cure any case like mine.

I would advise all afflicted with said disease to go and do likewise.

Yours respectfully,
HENRY UTLEY.

TESTIMONIALS:

RALEIGH, N. C., Jan 16, 1869.

MR. CONGLETON:—On the 14th inst., I came to town with considerable pain and swelling in my right knee. I got a bottle of the "American Rheumatic Liniment" and applied it to my knee, which was greatly relieved and assuaged in ten hours. I then applied it again and by night was so far cured as to forget to apply the remedy: this pain had resisted the application of Liquid Opodeldoc for a week without any perceptible improvement, causing a limp in my walk at sometime and fears of inability to walk at all.

Respectfully,
THOS BAILY,

WAKE COUNTY, N. C., Feb. 24th, 1869.

MR. CONGLETON:—Dear Sir: My little son was for four months suffering with pains in his legs and weakness in his knees so he scarcely could get about and walked with great difficulty. I was fearful that he would lose the use of his legs entirely, which gave me a great deal of trouble and anxiety, hearing of the American Rheumatic Liniment, I purchased one bottle and commenced using it, and by the time I had used half of the bottle, my son was greatly relieved and could walk very well, and after using the whole bottle, he is now perfectly well, with many thanks to you and praises for the "American Rheumatic Liniment" I am yours, &c.,

Ayer's Sarsaparilla

A compound remedy, designed to be the most effectual Alterative that can be made. It is a concentrated extract of Para Sarsaparilla, so combined with other substances of still greater alterative power as to afford an effective antidote for the diseases Sarsaparilla is reputed to cure. It is believed that such a remedy is wanted by those who suffer from Strumous complaints, and that one which will accomplish their cure must prove of immense service to this large class of our afflicted fellow-citizens. How completely this compound will do it has been proven by experiment on many of the worst cases to be found of the following complaints:—

SCROFULA AND SCROFULOUS COMPLAINTS, ERUPTIONS AND ERUPTIVE DISEASES, ULCERS, PIMPLES, BLOTCHES, TUMORS, SALT RHEUM, SCALD HEAD, SYPHILIS AND SYPHILITIC AFFECTIONS, MERCURIAL DISEASE, DROPSY, NEURALGIA OR TIC DOULOUREUX, DEBILITY, DYSPEPSIA AND INDIGESTION, ERYSIPELAS, ROSE OR ST. ANTHONY'S FIRE, and indeed the whole class of complaints arising from IMPURITY OF THE BLOOD.

This compound will be found a great promoter of health, when taken in the spring, to expel the foul humors which fester in the blood at that season of the year. By the timely expulsion of them many rankling disorders are nipped in the bud. Multitudes can, by the aid of this remedy, spare themselves from the endurance of foul eruptions and ulcerous sores, through which the system will strive to rid itself of corruptions, if not assisted to do this through the natural channels of the body by an alterative medicine. Cleanse out the vitiated blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in pimples, eruptions, or sores; cleanse it when you find it is obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it whenever it is foul, and your feelings will tell you when. Even where no particular disorder is felt, people enjoy better health, and live longer, for cleansing the blood. Keep the blood healthy, and all is well; but with this pabulum of life disordered, there can be no lasting health. Sooner or later something must go wrong, and the great machinery of life is disordered or overthrown.

Sarsaparilla has, and deserves much, the reputation of accomplishing these ends. But the world has been egregiously deceived by preparations of it, partly because the drug alone has not all the virtue that is claimed for it, but more because many preparations, pretending to be concentrated extracts of it, contain but little of the virtue of Sarsaparilla, or any thing else.

During late years the public have been misled by large bottles, pretending to give a quart of Extract of Sarsaparilla for one dollar. Most of these have been frauds upon the sick, for they not only contain little, if any, Sarsaparilla, but often no curative properties whatever. Hence, bitter and painful disappointment has followed the use of the various extracts of Sarsaparilla which flood the market, until the name itself is justly despised, and has become synonymous with imposition and cheat. Still we call this compound Sarsaparilla, and intend to supply such a remedy as shall rescue the name from the load of obloquy which rests upon it. And we think we have ground for believing it has virtues which are irresistible by the ordinary run of the diseases it is intended to cure. In order to secure their complete eradication from the system, the remedy should be judiciously taken according to directions on the bottle.
